

SPEAKER: The Chair recognizes Senator Syas.

SENATOR SYAS: Well from listening to the debate around here, until Senator Nore come through and Senator Keyes has some reservation, I guess I'm an old fogey. There's many ramifications in this bill and I'm opposed to it, permissive or not. Now you can't tell me knowing people as you do and as I do, that they won't push their children to graduate and use all go around, go to school all year, because one of the things there is always parents that will tell you how smart their kids are, and they will push them and the child will be going all year, and Senator Nore is right, it's up to the parent, you are going to leave it up the parent, some of the parents are the worst on this type of thing. Some of the parents now force their children to go to summer school, against their will, I think a child needs some relaxation, he needs some home life where he is there all day. I can see where some parents will send their children to school all day so that the parent, so the teacher can raise their children. I just think it's a further breakdown all year school, to me it would be a further breakdown of the family. I think it has some, the teachers are going to teach all year, and of course they will get paid for it, naturally, and they should get paid for it. They'll probably use it to get more money too. This is a, I can't see why we can't, why we have to make nervous wrecks out of kids by sending them to school all year, and regardless of what Senator Snyder says, that's exactly what parents, some parents will do. Now if you put some amendment on this bill that they can't go all year, then it would make a little sense, they could pick their quarters, but that isn't it, as Senator Barnett says, well they can graduate in two and a half years from high school, as infants. You know there is more than just studies in school, you have to grow up also, physically, in otherwise, I think you'd better do some real thinking on this bill.

SPEAKER: Did you wish to be recognized Senator Stahmer? Senator Kime.

SENATOR KIME: Well Mr. President, am I on there? Mr. President I have some misgivings on this situation, the parents don't always have the say of how this school is to be run. It's usually up to the school board, if they want to do this, why they can do it, perhaps the parents won't have too much to say. I have a question here for Senator Barnett?

SPEAKER: Senator Barnett will you yield?

SENATOR BARNETT: Yes.

SENATOR KIME: How do you take care of a question like that, now perhaps

SENATOR BARNETT: I don't know what the question is?

SENATOR KIME: The school board, they decide to have this on, during the summer months, and perhaps the teachers, or perhaps maybe even the teachers and the parents don't have very much to say about it.

SENATOR BARNETT: If you would look at section 8 of the bill Ortho, I believe it would answer your question. Section 8 is where you take the school board, figure out the type of plan that they want for this district. If they want it, and I assure you that there is probably in your district that would even want this type of legislation, because there is not the problem with
